

Jeremy L. Hirst

I graduated from a private high school in 2000. With being raised in a middle class family, I have been taught and practice good moral and ethical decision making. After high school, I enlisted in the United States Army. Within a very short amount of time I became an Airborne Ranger. Later, I was called upon by this great nation of ours to fight the battle against terrorism. Thus, I am a combat veteran. A couple of years after my enlistment in the US Army, I applied for and was accepted into Southern Illinois University Carbondale (SIUC.) I studied Criminal Justice and I was fortunate enough to have had an internship with the United States Marshals Service in the Southern District of Illinois. Recently, I graduated from SIUC with a Bachelor of Arts in Administration of Justice with only taking 2.5 years. Since my college graduation, I have been pursuing additional certifications in the Executive Protection industry and I have also been continuing my academic studies within SIUC's MBA program. In addition, my Executive Protection courses consist of two evasive driving courses through Advanced Driving & Security Inc and an Advanced Private Security Detail course through Trojan Securities International. I am able to work in a team environment or as an individual.
